

Bouncing Back When Your Chances Are Zero!

At the age of four, Joshua was diagnosed with terminal cancer. The doctors said he had one week to live, and his chances of survival were zero. That was over 40 years ago, so it's been a long week!

Joshua's life story and messages have been used to reach people all over the world with hope and encouragement. When he speaks about overcoming life's trials, finding true happiness, and making a difference, he's not just giving an opinion. Joshua speaks from his own experiences and from his heart.
